DSMRA Rider's Code

- Obey the laws & regulations on recreational vehicles. Observe restrictions on use of public land & do not go around locked gates.
- Respect the environment. Stick to formed tracks, avoid sensitive areas like wetlands & vegetated dunes. Treat native wildlife with respect.
- Do not ride when conditions are such that it will severely damage tracks. As a general guide, if you are leaving a 10 cm deep rut over a distance of 50m or more, you should not be in there.
- Be considerate of other bush users. Keep to the left-hand side of any track, & give way to horse riders. Ride sensibly past general recreational areas such as camping & picnic spots.
- Always ride a well-muffled & registered bike.
- Always carry a current driver's licence, & do not ride in public areas with anyone who is unregistered or unlicensed.
- Obtain permission from the relevant landholder before riding or camping on private land. Leave livestock alone & gates as you found them.
- Exercise some throttle control when overtaking other vehicles. Do not shower them with rocks!
- Do not wear a single line rut through drainage structures such as erosion control banks.
- Keep the environment clean. Take out what you take in.
